TEENAGER WINS 2.4 MILLION POUNDS IN LOTTO

by Malcolm Yardley

Last week, one lucky person won the whole jackpot of 2.4 million pounds in the lotto – 17-year-old Stanley Gibbs, a teenager from Manchester. Gibbs, who is a 12th-grade student,

5 listen to the news. Just as he turned the radio on, they announced the winning numbers for the weekly lottery, and Stanley realized that he was the winner.

10 “I was so excited, I couldn’t speak,” he said. “For a minute, I sat there with my mouth open, until one of my friends asked me what was wrong. I told him I was a millionaire!”

Stanley has many plans for his money. First, he will buy himself a new car, because his old car breaks a lot. Then, he will buy a new computer and stereo system. He also wants to buy tickets to all of Manchester United’s games, because that is his favorite sports team.

15 However, he has already decided that he will continue studying, because he is interested in having a good profession. “Now I can have a job I like,” he told The London Times. “I don’t have to look only for jobs with high salaries.”
