
Mike is now at home. He does not want to see his boss, Mr Frank. Then one morning he hears the telephone. 'Hello?' he says.

'This is Mr Frank. You must come to work tomorrow. I need to talk to you. Goodbye.'

The next day, Mike goes to work. His friends are happy to see him. 'Well done, Mike,' they say.

'Thanks,' says Mike. He is happy to see his friends, but he is afraid of Mr Frank.

His boss sees him. 'You, get in here.'

'This is it,' thinks Mike.

In the office Mr Frank looks at Mike. He has something in his hands. 'Do you remember the people in the helicopter?' he asks.

'Yes,' says Mike.

'They remember you. I think you need to thank them.' He moves his hands. There is Mike's camera.

'My camera!' says Mike.

'The camera is broken,' says Mr Frank, 'But we have the film and it's very good.' He smiles.

'My old friend,' says Mike to his camera. He gives it a kiss.

'Let's watch your video,' Mr Frank says.