

At three o'clock, Rina and Naama come back from school. They get off the bus and walk up to Naama's house. Naama opens the gate and they walk up the path to her house.

Hello girls! Good to see you!
How was school?
Here are some sandwiches for you.
You can eat them in the garden.
Come in and wash your hands first!

"What a beautiful garden you have! It's so wide and comfortable", says Rina.

"And especially that tree. Who works in your garden?"

"My father works in it. He is a gardener," smiles Naama. "We help him sometimes".

There is a big white garden swing under the tree. The girls sit on it. The tree shades them from the hot sun. The girls eat their sandwiches and swing back and forth.